

Split Income Clause Kept In New Tax Bill

Loophole Benefits
Higher Brackets

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate finance committee said today he is sure the new tax bill will not eliminate the split income provision which benefits higher bracket taxpayers.

Labor union spokesmen have denounced the provision to the committee as a "loophole." They have urged Congress to knock it out and get an estimated $2,500,000,000 more revenue a year.

Treasury Wants More

This sum would be almost as much as President Truman and the treasury have asked the Senate to increase the House-passed $7,200,000,000 bill. The administration is not recommending that the split income feature be discarded, however.

In advance of continuing hearings on the bill today, George told a reporter there was almost no chance his committee even would go into the question of tossing out the split income provision.

It was passed in 1948, he noted, to relieve an inequity. Before that, husbands and wives in more than a dozen states were able to split their income for tax purposes because of community property laws. That often put them in a tax bracket where the rate of levy was lighter. Residents of other states were thus at a disadvantage.

Must Have $4,900

Other senators said it would not be feasible politically to attempt to toss out the split income benefit. Some union witnesses have contended that Congress legally could eliminate the system for tax purposes even in community property states, but many lawmakers dispute this.

The split income provision operates as an advantage only to those in the middle and upper income levels. For instance, a married man with two dependents must have an income of $4,900 to get any tax benefit from the provision.

Ground Action Halts In Korea

Allied Planes Pound
Red Supply Routes

TOKYO—(AP)—Allied warplanes continued to pound Communist supply routes in Korea today as ground action slowed to a virtual halt.

B-36 Superforts dropped high explosive bombs on the rail yards at Sinmak, only 33 air miles northwest of Kaesong, where cease-fire negotiations are being held.

Other B-29s hit Opa, between Pyongyang and Sinanju, and Hungsu, just north of Sinmak. More than 100 tons of bombs were dropped in all.

On Monday night 116 planes flew sorties in the greatest after-dark operation of the Korean war. The night raiders pounded Red air fields, road traffic and supply and troop centers.

In light ground action, AP Correspondent George McArthur said the Reds made several small probing attacks north of Yangmu on the east-central front. The Reds advanced under cover of mortar and artillery fire, but were repulsed.

Korean Cease-Fire Talks Go Smoothly For Another Day

By SAM SUMMELIN
(Who went to Kaesong for Tuesday's meeting)

MUNSAN, Korea—(P)—An allied spokesman said Communists raised a new point in Korean war cease-fire discussions today. But that came as no surprise to the United Nations delegation.

The spokesman did not report the nature of the new point.

Both he and an official communiqué said "some progress" was made in the fifth day of armistice conference at Kaesong. Delegates are still arguing about the agenda.

No Heated Arguments

The spokesman, Col. James A. Norell of Mountain Home, Idaho, said he had no idea how long delegates would be working on the agenda.

The negotiators spent an hour and 35 minutes on it Tuesday. They will resume at 10 a. m. Wednesday (7 p. m. Tuesday EST).

There was considerable "back and forth discussion," Norell said, but no heated arguments.

Allied announcements about armistice meetings were brief, but Communist reports were even shorter. The North Koreans' Pyongyang radio merely gave the time the meeting opened and the time it closed. Its reports have been terse since the talks resumed Sunday.

In Good Spirits

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Communist delegate, opened

Tuesday's sessions, a U. S. 8th army announcement said. Most of the 55-minute morning session was devoted to a discussion between Nam and Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief United Nations delegate of the allied proposals for the agenda.

For the third day there were no Red Guards near the tiled building where meetings are held. The allied party saw only two armed Communists in Kaesong.

Both were North Korean police. One stood in a traffic circle with a Red flag in one hand, a white flag in the other. He presumably was directing the almost non-existent traffic. The other was leading an ox cart.

Negotiators appeared to be in good spirits when they came out of Tuesday's sessions.

Shooting Goes On

As they met, U. N. bombers swept across the quiet war front, following up the heaviest night raids of the Korean war. The U. S. Fifth Air Force flew 116 sorties Monday night in radar-controlled bombing attacks on Red air fields, troop concentrations and supply centers.

The shooting will go on until negotiators agree on armistice terms. And actual cease-fire negotiations could get underway only after completion of the agenda. The first five days of meetings were devoted to drafting the agenda. Each side submitted a list of subjects to be discussed.

Truman Flies Over Flooded District Today

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman flew West today for a quick aerial inspection of flood damage in Kansas, Oklahoma, and his home state of Missouri.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, and by Charles E. Wilson, mobilization director.

Checks On Destruction

Wilson went along to view defense plants hit by the nation's costliest flood.

The party took off in Mr. Truman's personal plane, the Independence, at 11:47 a. m. EST.

The President and Wilson expected to return later today. Mr. Truman may sign the $25,000,000 flood relief bill this evening if the Senate has acted on it by that time.

Votes In Home Town

Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of army engineers, told the President by telephone from Kansas City yesterday that damage from the receding flood waters would be more than $750,000,000 and might turn out to be much higher.

The President planned to land first at Grandview, Mo., one of his former hometowns, after looking over the water covered stretches to the west of St. Louis.

From Grandview he was to drive to Independence, 17 miles away, and drop off Mrs. Truman and their daughter Margaret for a summer stay at the family home.

While in Independence Mr. Truman intended to vote in a local election to decide whether bonds should be issued to pay for local improvements.

Colorado Prison Escape Nipped

Two Guards Wounded
In Uprising

CANON CITY, Colo.—(AP)—Five armed convicts stirred restlessly in barren solitary cells today while officials probed their bloody attempt to free 10 dangerous criminals from the Colorado state prison.

Two guards were wounded, neither seriously, in the fighting that broke out yesterday when the five convicts, brandishing knives and a revolver, tried to spring 10 prisoners from isolation cells. The 10 included incorrigibles placed in solitary for bad behavior.

Heavily-armed guards trapped the five convicts in a cellhouse and quelled them with a torrent of tear gas.

The prisoners held five guards as hostages for a short time during the 45 minute uprising. Warden Roy Best said the escape plot was planned by Harold Hathaway, Pueblo, Colo., robber with a long record of prison rebellion. He is among the 10 in the isolation cells.

Strangles On Salad

LONDON—(AP)—The coroner found today that Lord Holden, 51-year-old deputy speaker of the House of Lords, was strangled to death by a piece of lobster. Holden collapsed and died July 6 while eating lobster salad. A pathologist said the peer had a large lump of lobster flesh lodged in his larynx.

Killed By Live Wire

Racketeer Hookup Hinted In Scarce Defense Materials

By GLENN ENGLE

DETROIT—(AP)—A reported racketeer link with some scarce defense materials sent Senate investigators scurrying to the East today.

The scene shifted fast after a subcommittee of the Senate's small business committee wound up two days of hearings here.

The tip about possible racketeer connections came from a surprise witness at an extraordinary final session last night. The witness was Marshall C. Thomas of Norwalk, Conn., a one-time chemicals manufacturer who took to the materials brokerage business because "it was more profitable."

Thomas said "word has got back to me" that racketeers were connected with the nation's scarce supply of nickel. Two other witnesses said Thomas had mentioned racketeers as his source of nickel supply in offering large quantities of the metal at many times the regular market price.

Thomas readily admitted selling nickel anodes for up to $5.50 a pound, when, according to another witness, the normal market price has been 67 cents. But he denied that he knew any racketeers.

There is no price ceiling on nickel anodes, it was brought out. Thomas said he did not deal in scrap nickel, on which there is a ceiling. He said he also has not dealt much in steel. The steel shortage has brought mass layoffs in the auto industry.

Sen. Moody (D-Mich.), chairman of the subcommittee, sprinkled his questions with references to "this black market or dark gray market."

Kansas City Gets Set For Cleanup Of Muddied Ruins

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(AP)—The battered Kansas City area mobilized today for a Herculean cleanup task as flood waters, swirling eastward, struck new blows at Missouri river towns.

And in Kansas, a line of wrecked or partially damaged towns and cities stretched across the eastern and central parts of the state.

Costliest In History

Water still covered many sections but it was fast slipping back into river channels here and in Kansas.

But to the east of Kansas City, small towns along the Missouri river, Lexington, Wellington, Norborne and Hardin, Mo., were flooded. Some dikes in central Missouri gave way.

The runoff of Kansas flood waters also buffeted Oklahoma. Miami, in northeastern Oklahoma, suffered its worst flood beating in history from the Neosho - Grand river.

Scenes Of Desolation

The flames were fed by oil and gasoline floating on flood waters. Receding waters left scenes of desolation. Houses standing on end, lying on their sides or tilted at weird angles. Porches hung on the tops of light poles, bedding on utility wires.

Tanks and barrels were perched on roofs. Household furniture was smashed and covered with thick mud. Piles of debris—floating lumber, porches, roofs and window frames were swept against some buildings.

It will be weeks before wrecked gas lines, broken water mains and telephone and light circuits can be repaired.

In the flooded industrial district, workers sought to salvage what they could from first and second floors where waters had swept over machinery and other installations.

Loud bursts of cheering and applause roared up from the assembly as the youthful king spoke.

The new ruler wore the khaki uniform of a lieutenant general, highest rank in the Belgian army. He wore only one decoration—the crimson sash of the Order of Leopold.

Outside cannons boomed, church bells pealed and thousands of Belgians cheered in the bright sunlight. It all was in marked contrast to yesterday's brief, quiet ceremony at which Leopold signed his abdication papers before 250 persons in a royal palace ballroom.

The 49-year-old Leopold gave up his throne yesterday still contending his surrender to the Germans in 1940 was only after the army had "fought valiantly to the extreme limit of its resistance." His enemies had accused him of being pro-German and also condemned his wartime marriage to the beautiful commoner, Mary-Liliane Baels.

Oriental Plumbing Is Temperamental, Gov. Dewey Learns

TAIPEH, Formosa—(AP)—Members of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's party wish he had brought a good American plumber on his oriental tour.

They need one at the Chinese Nationalist government's guest house.

The house, formerly the residence of the Japanese governor-general, is Formosa's finest mansion.

But the plumbing is temperamental.

More than once the water suddenly stopped running just as a well lathered American stepped into a shower. And the toilets don't flush.

There are other things. The mosquito nets have holes in them. The mosquitoes take full advantage of the opportunity.

Members of the party are taking it in good spirit.

Dewey inspected a Nationalist army division in northern Formosa today. He was accompanied by Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, head of the American military assistance advisory group.

American Naval Chief Calls On General Franco

Britain And France
Oppose Madrid Pact

BY C. YATES MCDANIEL

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Admiral Forest P. Sherman's visit to Madrid probably indicates a U. S. desire to reach some kind of military understanding with Spain despite British and French opposition.

Washington officials expressed this view while declining to disclose the specific subject of the U. S. chief of naval operations' lengthy talk yesterday with Generalissimo Franco.

They noted that Sherman started his round of high-level conferences in Madrid, before going on to France, Italy and Great Britain and before seeing General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Interest Is Strategic

The London foreign office promptly disclosed that Britain had advised the U. S. against entering into any military arrangements with Franco. American officials have been aware of British and French opposition ever since London and Paris were sounded out months ago about a possible U. S. interest in bases and military understandings with Spain.

U. S. military leaders have made no secret of their strategic interest in Spain. Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, told the House Foreign Affairs committee Friday that "from the military point of

Clifford South Dead
After Scuffle

Clifford Edwin South, 58, of Cornell died last night at 8:15 o'clock of a heart attack while enroute to St. Francis hospital following a quarrel and a scuffle with a patron of his general store at Cornell.

The sheriff's department this morning arrested Arthur Swanson, 48, of Cornell and is holding Swanson without charge pending an investigation in the case.

Came From Detroit

According to the story received by Sheriff William Miron, Swanson entered South's store in a quarrelsome mood, allegedly while Swanson was drunk. South and Swanson began to wrestle. Other patrons who entered the store separated the two men and South suffered a heart attack as a result of overexertion. He died enroute to the hospital in Escanaba.

Coroner O. S. Hult of Gladstone was called on the case and reported that South died of a heart attack.

Strike In Utah Cuts Down Copper Output

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Federal officials tried today to end a Utah strike which has reduced the national output of copper, a metal needed for mobilization and defense.

Three mediation service commissioners met with representatives of the striking United Steel Workers of America (CIO), and their employer, the American Smelting and Refining Co.

They tried to get the two sides together on a contract which would send 1,100 men back to work at the company's refinery at Salt Lake City.

The smeltermen went on strike July 2 after the company refused demands for higher wages and a union shop.

Wreck Kills 4 On Nickel Plate

Collision Injures 13
Near Ft. Wayne, Ind.

FORT WAYNE, Ind.—(AP)—A nickel plate freight and a Wabash passenger train collided with a thunderous roar at a cross-over junction last night and four persons were killed and 13 persons hurt.

The toll rose to four today with the finding of an unidentified Negro woman's body under an overturned refrigerator car. She was believed to have been a passenger on the Wabash train.

Others killed in the crash were H. E. (Heinie) Waggoner, 69, Danville, Ill., a conductor; William C. Moore, 66, Toledo, O., formerly of Arcadia, Ind., a passenger and James W. Fiser, Peru, Ind., a Wabash trainman.

Moore was an employee of the Acklin Stamping Co., Toledo and formerly was a cannery employee in Cicero and Arcadia, Ind. He was enroute to Arcadia for a visit with his brother, Henry.

The trains piled up in a tangled mass near New Haven, seven miles east of Fort Wayne. State police said the freight rammed and sideswiped the passenger train, splintering a day coach.

Two Injured In Gladstone

Automobile Carrier Truck Hits Coupe

Walter Lund, 31, Kipling, and Patricia Moreau, 19, Gladstone, suffered painful cuts and bruises when Lund's coupe was struck by a Canadian automobile transport in South Gladstone at 8:30 this morning.

The accident occurred on U. S. 2-41 near the Sinclair gas station. The Lund automobile was demolished, and gasoline tanks and other parts of the haulaway truck were badly damaged.

John Antosko, 28, Winnipeg, Man., driver of the haulaway, and Francis Lagina, Gladstone, a passenger in the Lund car which was enroute to Escanaba, were uninjured.

Lund received a deep cut in the left thigh, and Miss Moreau suffered lacerations over the left eye. After receiving medical aid, they were taken to their homes.

Police Chief Torval Kallerson of Gladstone, who investigated the accident, reported Antosko was driving the haulaway light in an easterly direction on U. S. 2-41. A truck ahead slowed up to make a left turn into the side road near the gasoline station. Antosko applied the brakes. Apparently the left front wheel of the haulaway locked for it darted across the center line and rammed into left side of Lund's coupe.

The transport is owned by the Western Car Carriers of Winnipeg.

Taft-Hartley Law Making Communists In U. S., Says Green

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Pledging a continuing fight for repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor act, AFL President William Green said yesterday its authors "make more Communists in one day than a soapbox orator makes on the streets in a month."

Green told a convention of the AFL Retail Clerks association that no law ever passed has caused such "widespread resentment" among American workers as the Taft-Hartley act.

He declared the act has put workers in a state of mind similar to that which turned the workers of Yugoslavia to Communism. "He added: "If that keeps on and grows and expands, we can then understand why Communism might spread in America."

Blight Visits Delta County

Potato Spraying Urged By Heirman

The first traces of blight were found on potatoes in Delta county yesterday, Joseph Heirman, county agricultural agent, reports. After checking several fields, it was found that the degree of blight varied from a trace to serious damage.

Weather conditions bring on blight and must be kept under control with a thorough spraying program, Heirman explained. A sound spraying program would be to apply 100-125 gallons of spray per acre at 5 to 7 day intervals.

Those who have a trace of blight should spray every other day until the blight has been completely checked. With weather conditions as they have been in the past days, all potato growers should check their fields closely every day to see if blight has become active.

Neglecting to look at the potato fields for two or three days may cause serious damage by blight which ultimately results in lower yields. Farmers having problems with spraying for blight control should feel free to contact the county agricultural agent's office to discuss the problem they have, Heirman said.

The call was relayed to the Delta Cab company which responded immediately and sped the medical aid to Mrs. Duncan. A doctor was called later to give further treatment and he commended the young Duncan girl for her quick thinking and complimented the response of the drug store and cab company.

Drug Store, Cab Respond To Plea

Quick thinking on the part of her 13-year-old daughter yesterday morning saved Mrs. Phyllis Duncan, 616 North 19th street, from possible burn scars resulting from a home accident.

Mrs. Duncan was shaking out a rug in a rear hall at her home when a kerosene stove tipped over, spilling the burning liquid on her arm and leg. At her mother's call for assistance, her daughter Audrey quickly phoned the People's Drug store, 1208 Ludington street, and asked for first aid material for her mother and also requested that a taxi be phoned to carry the saline to the Duncan home.

The call was relayed to the Delta Cab company which responded immediately and sped the medical aid to Mrs. Duncan. A doctor was called later to give further treatment and he commended the young Duncan girl for her quick thinking and complimented the response of the drug store and cab company.

Bears Becoming Nuisance Around Grand Marais

GRAND MARAIS—Bears have been causing Grand Marais residents considerable annoyance the past few weeks.

Saturday night about midnight members of the Albert Grasser family were awakened by a terrible racket in the storm shed at the rear of their home. They discovered that a large bear had entered the shed and accidentally closed the outer door imprisoning himself. The animal was banging against the kitchen door and the Grassers, fearing it might break into the house, called Conservation Officer Clyde Lambert, Before he arrived, however, the bear battered down the outside door and escaped.

The animals have been pestering farmers and folks living on the edge of town Edward Senecal chased one away from his chicken coop and his neighbor, Lawrence Tellier, also ran one off his property. Louis Dowell met a large bear in the woods just east of town Saturday but did not loiter.

Grand Marais residents are planning to do away with the animals before serious damage is done.

Noisy Animals Bother Bob On African Safari

By ROBERT C. RUARK

Somewhere in Tanganyika—When I mentioned an intent to grapple with the king of the beasts I had rather assumed that you stalked out to the suburbs of Nairobi and whistled one up. This seemed reasonable enough a couple of days ago, when I wasn't met at the airport by my white hunter, Harry Selby, as is customary. Mr. Donald Ker of the firm of Ker and Downey Safaris, Ltd., which is bossing my show, was apologetic.

"I am sorry Harry isn't here," he said apologetically. "But the game department asked him to nip out this afternoon and shoot a rhino in the park. Mussed up one of the locals rather badly, and they think it's gone rogue. I tried to save it for you, but your plane was just a touch late."

Unusual Happening

Harry was back in town at 7 p. m., after having shot the rhino, and the next morning the game department called again to shoot it as a special favor.

"This sort of stuff hasn't happened in 15 years," Ker said. "Not since they used to call me up to go shoot the wildebeeste off the landing strip at the airport so's to let the planes come in."

It was three days and four nights ago that we left the leopard and to his own devices and took off into the wild. The Armac road lasted about 40 miles and after that Harry Selby's land rover, a sort of specially equipped jeep, climbed its own hills with the tenacity of a goat and made its own roads through the bush. Mr. Selby, a darkish, handsome youngster of 25, drives a very fancy brand of jeep. It seems to be part of him and answers special demands at a secret signal. It can swim, climb trees, and bake bread with the grass seeds in the radiator grill.

I might mention that the soul I left in New York has now caught up with me, because heavy rains have wrecked the skinny trails over the mountain ranges and at times we average at least five miles an hour. This does not include the special occasions when we must back track to pull Annie out of a pig hole.

Annie Is a Truck

Let me introduce Annie. Annie is a truck that carries all the gear and most of the boys. She is called Annie because the British name for truck is Lorry. Any truck whose surname is Lorry it seems to me in a fit of brilliance, had to be first named Annie. She is a willing girl, is old Annie, but she sticks in the mud awful easy, and wheezes something frightful on the hills.

Somebody once remarked that Africa was a mighty big country and after a trip through the high Masai country down into Tanganyika, I'm inclined to think he had something specific in mind. The Masai are a colorful tribe of handsome, prideful people who live mainly off milk and blood, but they inhabit an awful amount of rugged real estate, full of mountains and stones and things.

There is also a huge plain, an animal refuge called the Serengeti, which is a sea of exceedingly dusty grass literally seething with animals. We saw 14 lions in 12 hours, for instance, one of which we viewed from the jeep at the range of six feet. At six feet a lion is larger than I remembered. This one looked at mama and yawned. Mama did not yawn back. She was not bored.

Noisy Hyenas

We have been pitching a fresh camp each night, and I might say that in addition to being larger than suspected, Africa is also noisier than I have been led to believe. The hyenas sit just outside the tent and giggle and growl and whoop. The lions roar, and the leopard's cough, and the baboons bark, and the birds yelp and scream and complain angrily about the intruders in their midst. The bees whoop and the tsetse flies whizz and the mosquitoes buzz and everything bites. The female sector of this expedition did not sleep her first night in a

Suggestions Invited To Revise Election Laws In Michigan

LANSING — (AP) — A legislative committee mapping a revision of Michigan election laws invited suggestions today from any one interested.

The committee said it planned to draft a recodification of the election statutes and submit it to the 1951 legislature.

Senator Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek), the chairman, said the committee planned to study a proposal to move the biennial primary election from September to mid-summer and another to adopt the so-called Massachusetts ballot plan. Under this the voter must indicate his choice for every office on the ballot and may not cast a straight party vote.

The Massachusetts plan was defeated by the 1951 legislature and the early primary was vetoed by Governor Williams.

But, Coleman said, the committee will consider any election law changes suggested to it by the public.

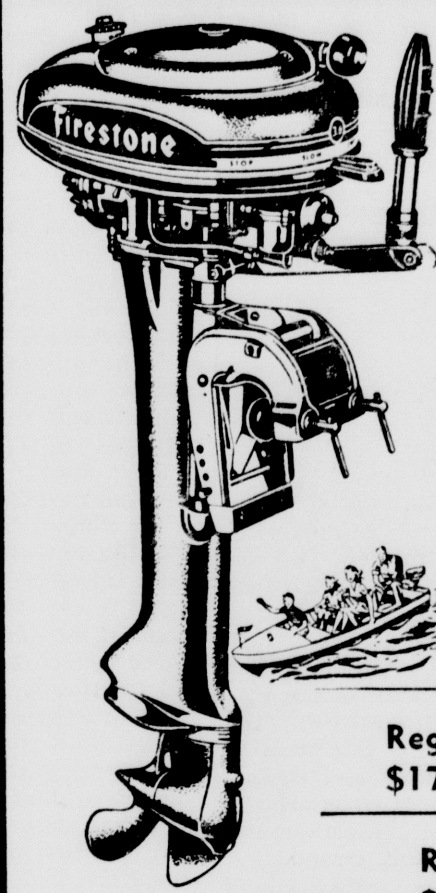

The codification will be drawn in conjunction with an advisory committee.

M. N. Smith Played Major Role In Development Of Escanaba

M. N. SMITH, who died suddenly Saturday evening, was well known throughout the Upper Peninsula and the Middle West as a successful financier and businessman but in his home community of Escanaba he was honored and respected as a civic leader.

Mr. Smith was closely connected with the development of Escanaba for a period of many years. He gave generously of his time, his abilities and his money for the civic well-being of his community. Despite advanced age, Mr. Smith never grew old in the sense that he permitted himself to be outpaced by modernity. He was an advocate of progress. In a large sense the expansion and improvements of the Escanaba Paper company, which he served as president, are the results of his foresighted and aggressive leadership. The Escanaba National Bank and the Upper Peninsula Power and Light company also have benefitted by his leadership.

Matt Smith came to Escanaba many years ago as a baseball pitcher. He never lost his enthusiasm for the game and good ball game—junior league, high school or senior league baseball. For the past two seasons Mr. Smith served as president of the Escanaba Bears baseball club and has played a very active part in restoring baseball to its proper position in the Escanaba sports program.

The death of M. N. Smith is a loss that saddens the community.

Invite Your Friends To U. P. State Fair

THE Upper Peninsula State Fair at Escanaba Aug. 14-19 provides an excellent opportunity for residents of the peninsula to entertain guests from other areas and to show their guests what the Upper Peninsula produces in agriculture and industry. The U. P. State Fair has been called the "Show Window of the Upper Peninsula" because it mirrors the achievements of the people of this area.

In addition to the exhibits and educational displays at the fair, patrons are offered daily a professional entertainment program of outstanding merit. Grandstand admission prices at the fair are extremely low for entertainment of this quality and there is free admission to the grounds until 5 p. m. every day except Thursday and Sunday.

The 1951 U. P. State Fair will be bigger and better than ever, the board of managers has promised. Excellent cooperation is being received from all of the hundreds of persons whose efforts are required to produce a successful fair.

Invite your friends to the 1951 Upper Peninsula State Fair.

THE MONARCH

Butterflies are among the most interesting of Earth's insects; the name "lepidoptera" means scaly-winged, and refers to the fact that scales on the wings are flattened. Butterflies fly by day while many moths prefer the darkness. Perhaps you have noticed that butterflies at rest hold their wings erect, while moths fold theirs against their bodies. There are some 700 species of butterflies in America and the life spans of most are complete in about a fortnight.

One of the spectacular life cycles of the insect world is concerned with Monarch butterflies. They gather in large flocks in the fall and fly to the southland; they return in late spring or early summer. It is a handsome butterfly in its coat of blended, rich browns, glowing chestnut reds, deep yellows and soft creams. It is easily identifiable by the double row of cream-white dots around the wing margins. The male has a small black patch on a vein on the upper side of each rear wing.

The four-cycle life is interesting and one that can be easily watched through the phases of egg, caterpillar or larva, pupa and adult butterfly. The egg, about the size of a pin head, is laid on the underside of a milkweed leaf; in five days it hatches into an arresting black, white and orange striped caterpillar approximately an inch long. For 15 days the caterpillar feeds on the milkweed; then as a pupa it builds its chrysalis or cocoon—a beautiful, jade-green, silk covering with a gold-dotted rim. In 10 days a newborn butterfly emerges and the wings expand with amazing rapidity. If you want a thrilling, oddly-stirring experience, watch a cocoon as the Monarch comes forth. Within an hour or two, it will spread its wings and fly away. In summer sunshine the Monarchs are like dancing flowers. As one thinks of the long migration and studies the magnificent coloring, he can understand why the pioneers gave the folklore name, Monarch, to this insect which uses the milkweed as its birthplace.

Unjust Reserve Callup Studied

A special armed services subcommittee of the House of Representatives has issued a sharp report criticizing the armed forces for injustices created by its hasty callup of reserves after the outbreak of the Korean war.

The report of the subcommittee brought into the open a condition that has been extremely unfair and unwise. Enlisted men with multiple dependents—one with 10 children—were involuntarily ordered to duty while single men remained behind because of their membership in an organized unit. Some of the men called up were grandfathers, the committee reported.

Reservists were taken from colleges and ordered to report for active duty while non-veterans schoolmates received the protection of the draft regulations. Many inactive reservists were essential men in essential industries but they, too, were called up while fellow workers of draft ages were deferred.

The inactive reservists were genuinely surprised by the callup because it had been generally believed that organized reserve units would be called first and the inactive reserve only as a last resort. The wails of anguish that developed finally caused the armed services to call a halt and it is now indicated that these reservists will be released as rapidly as replacements are available.

Satellites Resist Russian Control

OFTEN you hear it said that Russia doesn't want a big war now because she fears that her satellites would prove untrustworthy in battle.

All reports from the satellites indicate that the Russians are not loved by the peoples of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria. But there are wide differences among them in their will and their ability to combat their masters in Moscow.

The resistance movement in Poland is generally viewed as the strongest and most active. Indeed, the conduct of the Polish underground is an example to men of the resistance in other lands, and to all free peoples.

The regular Polish army, under command of Russian General Rokossovsky, is shot through with resistance members and sympathizers. As presently constituted, it can only be a huge question mark in Stalin's strategy for the conquest of Western Europe.

The Polish peasants raised such a furore about certain restrictive, collectivizing proposals affecting their farms that the Kremlin's puppet government had to back down. In fact, the measures were so unpopular Moscow felt it necessary to liquidate the officials publicly labeled as responsible for them.

Yet with all this acknowledged strength, the Polish underground is playing an extremely cautious hand. The army trains, but it does not act. The arms are kept hidden. Factory slow-downs and incidents of sabotage do occur, but on a limited scale.

The mood is one of watchful waiting. The men of the underground, remembering Poland's costly premature uprising against the Nazis in World War II, are determined not to repeat that mistake. They do not intend to strike full force until they are convinced their moment of liberation has come.

When will that be? The Poles have no idea. But they are prepared to wait a long time. They are a people whose history is darkened by centuries of oppression. They are accustomed to it, but they never accept it.

Little Town

By Gordon Martin

There are folks who love the city and would never care to change, for they think the life of smaller towns is something very strange. They will joke about the country and the people in the sticks, and be grateful that they've never had to live among the hicks. But there isn't any place on earth where blessings shower down, as they do within the limits of a little country town.

Sure, a village is a place they never put on any airs, and it's true that everybody knows the other man's affairs. But the folks are long on friendship, though they might be short of cash, and they don't desert a friend whose life has quickly gone to smash. They will jump to help a brother who is failing in his health, and the kindly little deeds they do are valued more than wealth.

It's a place where kids are wholesome and where honor has its worth, and a place where daily living is a thing that's down to earth. It's a place where every man must prove his right to what he owns, and he answers to the name of Jim, and not to that of Jones. City folks, of course, can have their choice and on the village frown, but there's still some extra blessings in a little country town.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—In the background of the state department's re-examination of 500 members of its staff from top to bottom, including the suspension of several career diplomats pending security hearings, was the mysterious disappearance of the two British diplomats.

This scrutiny is no reflection on any particular person, and many of these suspended merely face technical charges. It is significant, furthermore, that the FBI lady informer, for many years a member of the Communist party, recently testified that she knew of no Communists in the state department, though her job was to list the membership of all Washington Communists.

The state department, however, is taking precautions lest the same thing happen to the American diplomatic service that happened to the British. For, with the disappearance of the two British career men, it was necessary to fly special couriers all over the world to change the secret codes of both the United States and Britain. In addition, almost every secret known to the two countries was exposed—probably to the Kremlin.

Furthermore, this tragic loss of secrets could have been prevented by more alertness on the part of British authorities—which is why the state department is staging a new self-inspection.

The most widespread and thorough manhunt in history has now been conducted for Donald MacLean and Guy Burgess. Allied agents have spent hundreds of hours trying to track down the missing men. They have combed the continent, searched the dives of Montmartre, inspected the waterfronts of Rotterdam, Antwerp, and Le Havre; have even checked as far away as Argentina. But so far every trail has led up a blind alley.

Every day that passes makes it more conclusive that MacLean and Burgess have disappeared behind the Iron Curtain—as was first predicted by the companion who started off with them and then came home.

Meanwhile here is the story of what happened, as intelligence officers have carefully pieced it together. It is a story illustrating the need for housecleaning all diplomatic deadwood before it is too late.

A NEUROTIC FAILURE

1. Before leaving the United States, in May, Guy Burgess had become a diplomatic failure. Perhaps as a result, he had also become an outspoken anti-American. There is no record, however, that he engaged in any pro-Russian activities while in this country, but he had been asked to leave the United States because of drunk-driving and a strong protest by Virginia's Governor John S. Battle.

Burgess was a sexual deviate, and an extensive search has been made to locate his friends in Washington. So far the search has proved futile. Burgess apparently had no close friends except for some of the dregs of the city.

2. Actually Burgess was no more than a diplomatic flunky attached to the British embassy. Associates report that he was neurotic, unreliable and a bore. One associate described him as "an explosive mass of frustrations and inner conflicts." He should have been house-cleaned long ago.

3. MacLean was of a different calibre. Only 38 years old and son of a distinguished father, he was the chief of the American division of the foreign office—a post in which he knew every vital Allied secret.

In recent years, however, MacLean had become increasingly unstable. Due to overwork he had two nervous breakdowns. He had also acquired a personality unbalance somewhat similar to Burgess's, and his American wife was concerned.

4. Before Burgess and MacLean left together for France on May 23, Burgess, the bachelor, told friends he was going to "visit the continent" for several weeks. He was starting six weeks' leave from the foreign office, preparatory to looking for a new job. Significantly he didn't mention MacLean's name in any conversation about his forthcoming trip.

MacLean, however, didn't have any official leave from his government post. That Friday, when he left home, MacLean told his pregnant wife: "I'm going away for the weekend and will be back Sunday night or Monday morning." He didn't say where he was going. And he didn't mention Burgess's name.

NO EXTRA MONEY

5. As far as the authorities can determine, neither man took more than a limited amount of money. Their bank accounts have been thoroughly checked and no heavy withdrawals were made prior to their departure. Neither man is thought to have taken more than $200, though they could have hidden funds in their clothes, funds received in advance from the Russians.

6. An exhaustive check of each man's wardrobe indicates both of them took only enough clothes to last for a relatively short trip. MacLean had only enough clothes for the weekend.

7. Intelligence officers are certain that both Burgess and MacLean got as far as Paris. However, there's absolutely no record of their arrival or presence in the French capital.

Kim Il Sung, Korea's Man Of Mystery, Trades On Phony Name And Legend

By ALBERT PARRY

NEA Special Correspondent

NEW YORK—He is called a "Man of Mystery," this General Kim Il Sung of North Korea who, together with a Red Chinese general, has agreed to the cease-fire negotiations at Kaesong.

But the "mystery" can now be dispelled. Certain facts about him are known, chiefly from Russian sources. At 39, Kim Il Sung is one of Stalin's youngest satellite chiefs. Prime minister of the North Korean puppet state, head of Korea's Communist Party, he is also commander-in-chief of the Imjin-gun or "People's Army."

Americans who saw him before June, 1950, at Pyongyang, his capital, described him as fat and sleepy-eyed. But he is rather pleasant-looking, perhaps trying to ape the false geniality of his boss Stalin.

Soviet Russian correspondents who have interviewed him praise him as "a young, broad-shouldered man with a wonderfully open and—let us say this—lucid face, smiling as only very good people can smile."

Some of that smile may stem from his fondness for rich living. Those who are allowed to see him at Pyongyang have to pass through four large ante-rooms—a big portrait of Stalin in each—before reaching Kim's huge office. He sits at an oversized mahogany desk, between busts of Stalin and himself, amid costly carpets and other lavish furnishings.

He has his own air-raid shelter, 100 feet underground, which is really an apartment, including a music room with an organ and a room with a barber's chair. A tunnel connects it with the house of his Russian "advisers." When he first took Seoul he and his cronies consumed the entire stock of the Chosen Hotel's English gin.

He was born in 1912 in the village of Man Gin-dyu, near Pyongyang. His real name was Kim Sung Chu, son of the village teacher who was a revolutionary. Between his two imprisonments by the Japanese, Kim's father took his family to eastern Manchuria. He returned to Korea to fight, and soon died.

Kim now says that he knew his father a total of but a few months, but that it was because of his teachings Kim joined the Communist Youth League of East Manchuria while in his teens.

Kim was soon the League's secretary.

In the early 1930's, when the Japanese pushed into China, Kim formed that country's first Korean guerrillas. Later his unit crossed into Korea and occupied the rugged mountains at Kanggye. The Japanese never truly controlled the Kanggye area; it was too tough. So they tried to seal it off. This was why Kim survived, and also why he was hardly known to most Koreans when in August, 1945, the Russians brought him to Pyongyang.

His uniform was that of a Russian army officer. The Soviet command introduced him as "General Kim Il Sen, the celebrated national Korean hero." A legend was spread that Kim was trained in China's famous Whampoa Military Academy in Canton, that later he studied in Moscow, and that in 1942-43 he fought valiantly at Stalingrad.

All this has little factual basis. In the mid-1920's, when the VISITORS TO MOSCOW: North Korean puppet leader Kim Il Sung, who'll be one of the cease-fire negotiators, walked with bared head (left) as he visited Moscow in 1949 with Pak Hen En (center), then vice-chairman of the North Korean cabinet. Russia's Andrei Gromyko (right) walked with them.

Whampoa Academy was the training center for Far Eastern revolutionaries, Kim was 12 or 14, but a Whampoa student had to be at least 18. His Moscow and Stalingrad chapters were either brief or non-existent. Russian newsmen who talked to Kim in 1946 incautiously reported that it was only then, as the puppet chief at Pyongyang, that he began to study Russian. In the summer of 1946 his Russian was still scant; after a few short sentences he had to turn to interpreters.

There was another Kim Il Sung,

not the present one, who studied in the 1920's both in Canton and in Russia. That man's Russian was excellent. He was a famous Korean leader who took part in the anti-Japanese movement of 1919 and disappeared from Korea shortly after. The Russians in 1945 deliberately palmed off Kim Sung Chu as Kim Il Sung, and went to work to make the Korean people believe that this was the same hero.

Some Koreans recognized the newcomer as Kim Sung Chu. The original Kim Il Sung would have been 60-odd in 1945, but the impostor was in his mid-30's. The fraud was too crude. Never mind, said the Russians and Kim himself. His portraits and statues appeared everywhere in North Korea, next to those of Stalin. Streets, factories, hospitals, even a university, were named after Kim. Day in, day out, it was din- ned into the people's ears that this new Kim Il Sung was their leader, their savior, only a notch below Stalin.

In mid-October, 1950, things looked bleak for Kim. He must have recalled his father's favorite saying: "A man without a country is like a homeless dog." As he sukked in that last remaining corner near Manchuria, it must have looked to Kim that his father's saying would soon fit him.

But the corner was the old, re-

Peter Edson's Column

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA)—Completion of a cease-fire arrangement in Korea will have no effect whatever on conclusion of the peace treaty with Japan.

On the contrary, the fact that there is an armistice in Korea may in part be due to American determination to go ahead with the Japanese peace treaty. Reasons for this belief are simple.

Russia's ultimate goal in Asia is to have a Communist Japan. Russia is believed to have planned, started and supported the Chinese aggression in Korea as the first step towards domination of Japan. Now that the Russians realize that Japan will be allied with the anti-Communist powers in the Pacific, through peace treaties, the Korean adventure may have been called off, at least temporarily, as not worth the cost in men and material.

Timetables for signing the treaty with Japan are still incomplete. Revised drafts of the treaty texts have just been submitted to the powers who were allied in the war on Japan. The original goal was to have the treaty concluded this summer, and that is still the hope.

If the treaty is signed by September, it may not be ratified for another six months. The Senate, with a calendar already crowded by domestic affairs, may not be able to take up the treaty this year. If Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearings are postponed till the next session of Congress, ratification by the United States may not come before early 1952.

STILL SECRET

Texts of the treaty agreements will not be made public until they are signed. While the United States has not surrendered any of its objectives in the negotiations with Japan and the allied powers, the form of the treaty has been altered in preparation. Present indications are that there will be several basic agreements.

First will be the peace treaty with Japan, signed by all the World War II powers except Russia and the Communist satellites. Jacob Malik, Soviet delegate to the United Nations, has declared that Russia will not accede to the American-Japanese treaty. Russia has proposed that the treaty be negotiated by Russia, Red China and the United States. The United States has rejected this proposal. After the American treaty is concluded, it has been said that the Russian embassy in Tokyo will be reduced to the effectiveness of the U. S. embassy in Moscow.

The second part of the Japanese treaty will consist of an American-Japanese security agreement. The United States will be given the right to station troops in Japan. But there will be no obligation for the United States to protect Japan.

Prime Minister Yoshida has indicated that after this part of the agreement is concluded, Japan will take steps towards creating its own defense and contributing to Pacific security.

The original plan for a Pacific defense pact, to be signed by Japan and all the non-Communist powers in the Pacific, has now been dropped. In its place will be a series of security pacts between separate countries. The first will be concluded between the United States, Australia and New Zealand.

ALLIES UNITED

The United States has already given guarantees for defense of the Philippines. Other, similar agreements are expected to be made with other Pacific powers, Japan and Nationalist China, for instance, will be expected to conclude a treaty of their own. Ultimately, however, it is hoped to draw all these separate agreements together into a Pacific alliance.

Negotiation of the Japanese peace treaties has done a great deal to strengthen the ties between the United States, Britain and France. At one stage of the proceedings, it was feared that this issue might lead to a serious breach.

The French were at first opposed to making any peace treaty with Japan for fear it would antagonize Russia. The French were told that no precedent for the treaty with Germany would be set by the treaty with Japan. If France didn't wish to go along on the Japanese treaty, the United States would break with France on this issue. France came along.

The British, fearing Japanese trade rivalry, wanted Japan kept economically weak. It was pointed out that the United States had poured $2 billion into Japan to keep the country from being Communist, while the British had contributed relatively nothing. From this position of power and strength, the United States was able to convince the British that cooperation would be better than rivalry in insuring future peace in the Far East.

Long Beach: Will you please give us the correct pronunciation of arbut?—T.

Answer: Avoid the rhyme with "car lighter." Accent the first syllable, and give a short sound to the "i" in the second syllable, thus: AIR-bit-er.

Fraser: Please tell me the pronunciation for both the singular and plural of the word appendix. A doctor told a friend of mine that since you have only one, it is called "an appendix." Can this be right?—Mrs. F. B.

Answer: As the little girl next door would say, "Nothing could be wronger." Appendix is pure Latin, but it has been in English for so long a time that it has been completely Anglicized. Appendix (singular) is pronounced: up-PEN-dicks. The plural of appendix is either appendices, pronounced: up-PEN-dick-sez, or, less frequently: appendices, pronounced: up-PEN-di-SEEZ.

Patent, "obvious, manifest," is pronounced: PAY-tnt.

Reds Set Back in West, But Gain in Middle East

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

MILAN, Italy—(NEA)—The Cominform suffered a setback in Western Europe but is gaining strength in the Middle East, according to delegates to the Second World Congress of the International Confederation of Trade Unions in Milan.

The Anglo-Iranian oil crisis has played into Soviet hands in the oil regions of Iraq and in such underdeveloped Moslem countries as Syria, Egypt, Algeria and Tunisia, which are likely to be used as strategic air and naval bases by the NATO countries.

Despite the somewhat relaxed East-West hostilities in Korea, there has been no let-up in Soviet activity in the Middle East. The ICFTU delegates report working in close alliance with such fascist and extremely pro-nationalist organizations as the Moslem Brotherhood in Egypt and the Neo-Destourian Party in Tunisia. Moscow's agents have succeeded in infiltrating Arab areas previously barred to them.

With Britain about to become embroiled in another dispute in the Middle East—this time with Egypt over the Suez Canal—the consensus here is that the Eastern Mediterranean may soon be the next theatre of Moscow's "limited wars."

Will pro-Russian and satellite forces strike next in the Middle East or against Yugoslavia and Greece? In the view of some Russian experts here, Greece and Yugoslavia are next on Moscow's timetable of aggression. They do not even exclude an attack against these two countries some time within the next 12 months—as soon as Russia's satellites have somewhat recovered economically from the Korean War.

The East-West negotiations in Korea are viewed with little optimism by the ICFTU delegates. Yugoslavia's neighbors—Rumania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Albania—are known to be arming to the teeth. The arrival of Russian troops in these countries (future "volunteers?") is reported daily. At the same time, the Greek delegates claim to have seen documents recently issued by the Cominform ordering the Greek Communist guerrilla leaders "to resume active guerrilla work."

The Central Committee of the Greek Communist Party, which is now in Bulgaria, issued the orders.

The Kremlin is not likely to be tender about Greek rebel lives in an effort to destroy the sizable network of airfields now being constructed on Greece's mainland and islands for potential war-time use by American bombers and fighter planes, it is believed here.

These as well as other Soviet moves in the Eastern Mediterranean lend added significance to Albania's latest notes to Yugoslavia, Greece and Italy protesting against alleged frontier violations. Albania has long been regarded as the jumping-off ground for a Soviet-inspired attack against Yugoslavia and Greece.

Meanwhile, there is no longer any doubt that, following the elections in France and Italy, the Communists suffered slight setback in Western Europe. The Communist Party of France is even reported to have lost 30 per cent of its membership and the Italian 31 per cent—though both parties showed considerable electoral strength. Communist losses in the Scandinavian countries were even bigger.

Several months ago, when I last visited Milan, this industrial heart of Italy was still largely Communist-dominated. Communist posters were plastered all over the city walls and signs of their activity were visible everywhere.

Following their defeat in the recent municipal elections, the Communists' influence in Milan seems to have evaporated. There was remarkably little Communist reaction to the ICFTU Congress which, representing 60 countries with a total membership of 53 million, is today the strongest anti-Communist force in Europe.

New Drydock Will Aid Oil Shipments

PALERMO, Sicily—(AP)—A new $3,200,000 floating drydock, partially financed with American funds, is expected to make Palermo the leading repair and service center for tankers on the vital Middle East oil route.

This ancient port, known to mariners before Christ was born, has become increasingly popular with tanker operators. The present drydock, built in 1899 and only equipped to handle ships of 15,000 tons, is occupied every day. At times there are as many as 14 tankers in Palermo's port either undergoing or waiting their turn.

Plans for the new floating drydock call for an ultra-modern installation designed to double the port's facilities. It will accommodate ships of 30,000 gross tons.

First Crop Switch After 99 Corn Years

IOWA CITY, Ia.—(AP)—Many Iowa communities and even farmsteads are celebrating centennials this year but there'll be none at the Joseph F. Buschmayer farm near here.

For 99 successive years, the farm has harvested good crops of corn for the Buschmayer family. This year the place was seeded to clover, timothy and alfalfa—no corn.

The reason is that Karl Joseph Buschmayer, 22, son of the owner, was called to Army service. Without his son's aid, the elder Buschmayer passed up sowing his customary crop.

Unwritten Laws Of The Road

No. 5: Slow Down Uphill.

Speeding uphill was no problem in the old days. You were lucky to creep over the top in high. But modern cars can take you up most grades at 50-60-70. Slowing down while going upgrade may sound silly, but visualize a slow-moving vehicle such as a tractor hauling a load of hay or a stalled car just out of sight over the hill. Oncoming traffic would keep you from going around it to the left. A guard rail or soft shoulder would keep you from going around it to the right. Your only chance to escape is to stop behind the vehicle ahead. Stopping downhill takes more distance than stopping on the level. Speeds over 40 at the top of the hill are apt to cause serious trouble.

WHAT GOOD IS AN Unregistered Pedigree?

Your Tractor Serial Number is its Register of Pedigree

You know what happens to the value of pedigreed stock that isn't registered. Then what about a tractor without a serial number?

its warranty period. This is your protection . . . you are not left "high and dry."

Tractors produced by present day manufacturers leave the plants of their origin with serial numbers that are intended to identify them for life.

That serial number helps establish the tractor's value, whether new or used. As a general practice banks and finance companies want a tractor's serial number before they will lend money on it and insurance companies want it before they will issue a policy.

A serial number helps the manufacturer determine if a tractor is within ment parts quickly and without mistakes. If your tractor is stolen, the serial number is the best means of tracing and identifying it.

From the day you buy your tractor until the day you sell or trade it in, its serial number is your protection and guarantee. Without it, your investment has no assured value.

It will pay you to make sure your new tractor has a pedigree . . . a serial number. We hope it will be a Ford Tractor.

Painting Skill Delays
Penitentiary Sentence

ROCKFORD, Ill.—(P)—A convict won another delay from Circuit Judge William R. Dusher in a habeas corpus petition to serve his sentence in the Winnebago County jail instead of the Joliet penitentiary, all because he's handy with a paint brush.

His attorney told the court the man was "doing a good job of rehabilitation" in the county jail. "He does good work with a paint brush," the attorney said.

"It's a strange request," Judge Dusher commented. "I'll take it under advisement at least until the painting is done."

Lightning Burns Linsmeier Barn At Birch Creek

MENOMINEE, Mich.— Fire caused by lightning at 10:30 p. m. Sunday destroyed a large stock barn at the farm of Charles Linsmeier & Sons, a half-mile east of US-41, north of Birch Creek, with an estimated loss of more than $10,000. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

No livestock was lost in the blaze, Linsmeier, members of his family and neighbors succeeding in getting all stock out of the barn, as well as considerable equipment. About 28 loads of hay which had been stored in the barn last week were destroyed.

The bolt hit along the roof of the barn and in a few minutes the entire top of the structure was in flames. The Menominee fire department, called to the scene, concentrated on saving a large garage, located about 20 feet from the barn, which houses three semi-trailer trucks used by Linsmeier in his livestock trade. Neighbors removed many tools and equipment from the garage when fire threatened it. The trucks were moved away from the fire.

48 Brownies Enjoy Camp

Day's Activities Are Described

By MRS. EARL H. LEBRASSEUR

Forty-eight Brownie Scouts, ranging from 7 to 10 years in age, are living testimonials to the statement that the camping program teaches girls to live simply yet comfortably out-of-doors, makes girls aware of the spiritual as well as the material resources of nature, and relates experiences out-of-doors to a normal scheme of living. These girls are attending the Day Camp now in operation at Trailer Park on the lake shore at Manistique.

The girls assembled daily from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. and, under the careful supervision of the camp director, Miss Gladys Linberg, of Ishpeming, camp counselors and program aides, they prepare a noon meal which may consist of such items as "blushing bunny", "angels on horseback", "some-mores", "pocket stew", or "eggs on hot rocks".

The afternoon is spent in nature hikes, handicraft projects using natural resources, games, songs, dancing, treasure hunts, or lashing. Often a treat, provided through the generosity of one of the local merchants, is enjoyed by the campers and the day's activities close with a general assembly and flag ceremony.

The camp is sponsored by the Manistique Girl Scout council and will close on July 20.

City Cost On Maple $2,000

Blacktopping Work End-d For Season

The city cost of the blacktopping job on Maple avenue and a short stretch of Arbutus will be approximately $2,000, it is announced by H. W. Heideman, city manager.

The entire cost of the job was $12,200, with the state highway department paying about $10,000.

Blacktopping work in the city was halted for the season several days ago when the contractors, the Mid-America Engineering company, of Skokie, Ill., and the Thornton Construction Co., of Hancock, ran out of blacktopping oil, the city manager said.

This will make it impossible to complete a proposed blacktopping project on Range street between Arbutus avenue and US-2, he said. Also out for the season, it is reported, is some blacktopping at the Schoolcraft Memorial hospital.

Besides Maple avenue the contractors completed resurfacing one block of Walnut street between South Cedar and Pearl and three

Ruffed Grouse To Be Plentiful

Population High, Foresters Report

Local bird hunters, anxiously awaiting next October, will be gratified to learn that the ruffed grouse population in the Schoolcraft area is rated high by conservation officers and foresters, it is announced.

State foresters have reported that the grouse population in the central and western part of the Upper Peninsula may be greater this year than last, based on observations they have made while traveling in wooded areas this summer. Observations made in the eastern end of the peninsula would indicate that there may be a slight decline in Mackinac and Chippewa counties.

Observations made locally are supported by a news report from the department of conservation, received Monday, which states that Michigan's ruffed grouse population is still high.

Again this year the bird hunter will have the longest shooting season the statute allows. In the Upper Peninsula it will be from Oct. 1 to 20, inclusive, and Oct. 15 to Nov. 5, inclusive, in lower Michigan. Bag limits will be the same, five a day, 10 in possession and 25 in the season.

Cows Killed By Train, Owner Refuses Suit

MOBILE, Ala.—(P)—W. T. Fulton, jr. admitted that it was his livestock's own fault for becoming dead and he wouldn't claim otherwise.

Fulton wrote the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad: "It seems that two of my cows got out of their confines and tried to force one of your freight trains off its beaten track. My cows were definitely out of order and therefore you may consider the matter unconditionally closed."

General Claims Agent Fred L. Johnson found Fulton's letter quite "refreshing" and with good reason. He okayed $50,000 in livestock claims last year.

Pioneer Americans had to supply their own leather soles to the cobblers, who traveled from door to door making boots and shoes.

Even now he won't be too far away from the seat of the Gold and Blue. He and Mrs. Farrell live only a few blocks from the main gate.

Farrell, 65, retired from the Department of Marine Engineering in June. He had been a professor for years. Farrell entered Annapolis as a plebe (freshman) 37 years ago. He would have received a commission but for a knee injury received while rowing in a Navy shell a short time before his class graduated.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

Protests are becoming almost as numerous as base hits in the Tri-County league. . . . The league protest board has gathered three times already this season to render decisions. . . . A fourth protest was called at the Escanaba-Wallace game Sunday, but it will probably not materialize in an official form to the league commissioner.

The newest incident came up in the second inning with Wallace at bat. . . . Right Fielder Johnson lined a single over the head of Charlie Camps, Bear shortstop. . . . Camps was unable to reach the ball and hurled his glove into the air at it. . . . Johnson started for second base but quickly scampered back to first when he saw there was going to be a play for him. . . . The Wallace bench emptied in a hurry and Manager Orton Melchior led the assault on the plate umpire. . . . The Wallace players reasoned that Johnson was entitled to an extra base (or bases, it wasn't very clear).

Phil Brazeau, Bear manager, stoutly objected to any such goings on. . . . He evidently convinced the umpire, Jewson of Wallace, because the runner stayed on first. . . . The Wallace manager then announced that the game would be played under protest. . . . Wallace had a 1-0 lead at the time and the game was washed out in a 2-2 tie after six innings had been played.

There was no further announcement on the protest and we do not know if there will be one. . . . Unfortunately, neither manager had a rule book at the game. . . . Evidently the umpires were likewise ill-equipped, because no rule book was produced during the fracas at the plate. . . . When a rule book was located later, it failed to substantiate the Wallace claim to extra bases. . . . Camps certainly didn't use his head when he tossed his glove at the ball, but as he missed it there was no damage done.

Have a letter from the manager of the Inkster Panthers, colored team which played an exhibition game against the Escanaba Bears recently. . . . He wants to make public his appreciation for the fine reception of the Escanaba fans and players. . . . The team was stranded here for four days. . . . The manager, Yancey Gray, says that none of his players were insulted or slighted in any manner while they were here and all of them appreciated the hospitable treatment.

RAIN OR SHINE—John R. (Abe) Milkovich solves the water problem at Highland Golf course by removing shoes and socks to splash his way through nine holes this week. Heavy rains have flooded several of the low holes at the course the more enthusiastic members played in spite of the handicap. Milkovich is shown here on the No. 5 fairway.

George Kell Takes Over Batting Lead

DETROIT—(AP)—Maybe the Detroit Tigers aren't getting anywhere in the pennant race but Tiger third baseman George Kell is zooming right into the American league batting race.

Kell, who won the batting title in 1949, leaped from third to first place among the batsmen after rapping three hits yesterday.

The Swifton, Ark., native, one of the game's top third basemen, has banged out 25 base hits in his last 42 times at bat to fatten his season's average to .339. Ted Williams of Boston, in second place, has .337.

Not Enough
Kell's hits, which three times move in Johnny Lipon with a run, weren't quite enough, however, to beat the New York Yankees. The Tigers lost 8-6 before 12,226 fans.

It was a familiar old story: lack of timely base hits. Only Kell consistently connected when it counted. Hoot Evers ran his new hitless string to 16 straight times at bat The Tigers got 15 hits to only eight for the Yanks.

Manager Red Rolfe's men will try to get back into winning ways tonight against the seventh-place Philadelphia Athletics.

Trucks Tonight
Virgil (Fire) Trucks (2-2), who lost a one-run decision to the A's the only time he faced them this season, was scheduled to oppose Alex Kellner (6-6).

The two clubs will play a single game Wednesday and a double-header Thursday.

The story of Kell's hitting surge is the story of a fellow who quit trying to murder the ball. Early this year when the Tigers started off badly George started going for homers to help the club along and he batting average suffered. He

Bosox Complain Facing Garver

Say Browns Saved Him For Series

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Manager Zack Taylor of the tail-end St. Louis Browns says the Boston Red Sox showed evidence of a lack of hustle in their series here.

Taylor usually is not given to strong statements. But he was spurred to words by the painful dent his Browns put in Boston's pennant hopes and a report some Boston players were complaining that Ned Garver was kept from pitching in turn and was saved for the Red Sox series.

The Browns won two out of three Boston games, trimming the Red Sox' first-place margin to a single game.

Won Opener
Garver held the Bosox to five hits and beat them 3-1 in the opening game. He originally had been scheduled to pitch Saturday against Philadelphia.

Yesterday the Browns exploded for seven runs in the fifth inning and went on to win 9-5. No one was happier than Taylor.

"They looked like dogs in the last four innings after they folded up," said Taylor. "They didn't look like they were hustling after we went ahead."

He added that in his opinion the Red Sox looked like anything but "a first-place club battling for the pennant."

As to Garver, Taylor said this was the second time this season he had been accused by Boston.

"I'm still the manager of the Browns," said Taylor, who is scheduled to be replaced in a few days.

Lost At Boston
"I'm going to use Garver as I see fit. I didn't hear any Boston complaints when they beat Garver at Boston."

Steve O'Neill, the Boston manager, said:

"I don't know about my players mumbering, groaning or sobbing, but there's no question that the Browns saved Garver for us."

He added:
"Garver is one of the greatest pitchers to come up in some time. I can't tell the Browns what to do, but I'll never speak to Bill Veck again if Garver doesn't work in the Yankee series next weekend."

Chuck Davey Held To Draw In Ring

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Former collegian champion Chuck Davey and Ross Virgo fought to a bloody ten-round draw here last night.

The two welterweights put on a hammer and tongs battle Davey weighed 143½, Virgo 143½.

Davey, former Michigan State College boxer, was the aggressor and the Rochester, N. Y., youngster the counter-puncher.

From the third round on Davey was hampered by an old gash under his left eye which a blow from Virgo reopened.

Other punches from the New Yorker opened cuts on Davey's face, and for a moment in the tenth round the referee stopped the fight to take a look at Chuck's injuries.

Davey followed a shuffling style. His fast left hand scored points as he worked it like a piston.

It was the first time in 24 previous fights that Davey failed to win. Virgo had won 22 of his 23 previous bouts.

Stephenson Host To Daggett Wednesday

STEPHENSON—Manager Mike Strohl's Stephenson club will play host to Daggett Wednesday night in a lighted makeup game in the Tri-County league.

The Steves, with a record of four wins against five defeats, are seeking a first division berth as the second half schedule nears the midway mark.

The game was originally scheduled for July 1, final date of play in the first round.

Clairmont Oldtimers Top Mountaineer Team

The Clairmont Transfer Oldtimers proved poor hosts to the Iron Mountain Oldtimers in an exhibition game at the Dock diamond Saturday evening, blanking the visitors 6-0.

Earl Koch handled the pitching for the Escanaba team with Cully Engstrom behind the plate.

Monroe Post Wins In Legion Tourney

MONROE, Mich.—(AP)—Monroe American Legion Post 424 held the lead in the Legion's second district baseball tournament as the meet headed into its final rounds today.

Monroe gained two victories in yesterday's play, edging Morenci 11-10 and humbling the Jackson Richard F. Smith Post 9-1.

Morenci also lost 12-6 to the Ann Arbor Erwin Pieskorski Post and was ousted from the double-elimination tournament. In yesterday's other game Jackson topped Ann Arbor 3-1.

Jackson and Ann Arbor were scheduled to play again today, and the winner takes on Monroe.

American League Pennant Race Could Be Tightened

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Results of the next three days may throw the American league race into one of the tightest four-team scrambles of record.

Only two and a half games separate the front-running Red Sox and the fourth-place Indians today as Boston invades Cleveland for a three-game set while runner-up Chicago and New York clash in a three-game argument of their own.

A mere half game can separate all four clubs when the last put-outs are made on Thursday. All it would need is for the Indians to sweep the set from the Red Sox and the Yankees to win two out of three from the White Sox.

Could Be This Close
Then the standings would read this way:

	W.	L.	Pct.	GB
New York	50	33	.602
Cleveland	51	34	.600
Boston	51	35	.593	1/2
Chicago	52	36	.591	1/2

The Red Sox lost a full game to each of their pursuers yesterday when the tail-end St. Louis Browns roused themselves with a seven-run fifth inning to upset the Sox, 9-5.

Chisox Rally

Chicago turned on their Philadelphia tormentors with an early blast to register a 9-5 victory over the Athletics and cut Boston's margin to one game.

The Yankees, outlasted almost two to one, outlasted the Tigers in Detroit, 8-6, to stay within a half game of the White Sox. They pulled even with Chicago in percentage, however, at .600. Cleveland lost to the Indians, 4-3, yesterday.

St. Joe, champions of the first half, will face a handpicked team composed of the cream of the crop from Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary teams.

The state tournament, which will be played July 27-28 at Midland, is the goal of Little League sponsors and players. An all-star group will be selected to represent the Escanaba league in the tourney.

All-Stars
Little League all-stars, announced by managers, are Roger Flath, Allan Erickson, Cliff O'Donnell, Tony Kutches, Charles McCarthy, Dean Lewis, Tony Derkos, Bob Lancour, Bill Lindstrom, Dwayne Marengier, Gary Hink, Rick Erickson, Bill Goodreau, and Gary Paler. Practice sessions will begin Wednesday morning at 8:30 at Royce Park and continue each day throughout the week.

Rotary opened the second half schedule this week with its first win of the season. Rotary dumped the Lions 9-5 with two lefties, Rick Erickson and Squeaky Hansen handling pitching duties. Mike Gregory served behind the plate.

Erickson and Cliff O'Donnell, third baseman, had their hitting togs on and powdered homers for the winners.

Bears Face Cardinals Under Lights Tonight

The Escanaba Bears will travel to Kingsford tonight for an early light clash with the Twin City Cardinals of the NWM league.

Manager Phil Brazeau today named Mel Karkainen, righthander, to face the Iron Mountain-Kingsford club which leads its circuit.

The game will get under way beneath the Kingsford lights at 8 o'clock.

Lady Golfers Attend Invitational Today

Escanaba golfers attending the Women's Invitational meet at Little River club in Marinette today include the following:

Helen Lewis, Vicky Beck, Margaret Beauchamp, Marion Desilets, Martha Freits, Blanche LaCrosse, Bunny Moersch, Tootie Swift, Joan Deno, Olive Hink, Agnes Oberg, Hazel Beggo, Lil Schwartz, Bern Schmitt, Pat Anderson, Rhea Ehnerd, Elsa Nelson, Fran Boyle, Wilma Pelson and Rose Anderson.

Iron River, Gwinn Win Legion Crowns

Sub district American Legion Junior baseball championships were won by Iron River and Gwinn teams over the weekend.

The Iron River Juniors captured their crown by rallying to defeat Crystal Falls 3-1 in the finals at Crystal Falls while Gwinn downed Ishreming 11-6 in 12 innings at Gwinn. Ironwood and Bessemer tangled for a third sub district title but results were not available today. Sub district winners will play at Bessemer for the right to enter the U. P. championship tournament here against the winner of the tournament at Cladstone this weekend.

The ten Westerners brothers of Elgin, Ill., participated in the annual ten brothers bowling tournament for 22 consecutive years.

land walked to an easy 8-2 triumph over Washington to cut its first-place gap to two and a half games.

It's a different story in the National league. The front-running Dodgers snapped their four-game losing streak with a decisive 11-2 win over Cincinnati to retain their eight-game margin.

Williams Homers
New York Giants slipped past St. Louis into second place by vanquishing the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-6, in the rubber of their three-game set. A five-run eighth inning kayoed Gerry Staley and gave the Philadelphia Phils a 5-2 victory over the Cardinals. Boston's Braves spotted Chicago four runs in the first inning and came out to win, 9-4.

Ted Williams slammed his 18th homer for the Red Sox but it went to waste as the Browns tied off on Ellis Kinder and Bill Wight for six hits and added three walks for seven runs in the big fifth inning.

Manager Paul Richards shook up his Chicago lineup and the White Sox responded by shellacking a pair of Philadelphia hurlers for 15 hits, including homers by Orestes Minoso and Don Lenhardt.

Luke Easter hammered his 13th and 14th homers and drove in five runs to lead the Indians to victory over Washington.

Two-Hitter
Carl Erskine hurled seven perfect innings and yielded but two hits as the Dodgers snapped Cincinnati's seven-game winning streak. A single by Ted Kluszewski led off the hitting for the winners. Schwalbach and Bucky Flath worked on the mound for the losers with Lindstrom catching.

Ace Gary Paler tossed a two-hitter to lead St. Joe to a 5-0 win over Kiwanis in the other game.

Mantle No Whizz In Blues Debut

(By The Associated Press)
Al Brancato, who once played for the Philadelphia Athletics, hit a two-run pinch-hit homer in the ninth to give St. Paul a 4-3 American Association triumph over the Minneapolis Millers last night.

The Saints needed the victory to keep two percentage points ahead of runnerup Milwaukee in the smoking league race. The Brewers dumped Kansas City out of a second-place tie with a 7-5 win.

In the only other game Bob Mavis smashed a 12th inning double to drive across the deciding marker in a 5-3 Toledo triumph over Louisville. The Mud Hens counted an insurance run after Mavis' blow when Ernie Funk walked with the bases loaded.

Mickey Mantle, optioned by the New York Yankees Sunday after a phenomenal American league early season start, made his debut with the Blues. Mickey walked and beat out a bunt, but was an easy out the next three trips, looking at a third strike once. Playing center, Mantle turned in one good catch.

Sloop Gale First Again In Chicago To Mackinac Race

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. — (AP)—The Chicago crew of the Gale, a sloop owned by Harry G. Nye, Jr., is boasting today of its second consecutive victory in the Chicago-to-Mackinac sailing race.

The Gale officially was declared winner in the Universal class in the 44th annual classic last night as she nosed across the finish line at 6:54.26.

The Gale was badly outdistanced by the 87-foot sloop Sabre, but the smaller craft had a handicap of 8 hours and 12 minutes. It was on corrected time that the Gale won in 1950, also, since Hugo Griffith's Tar Baby finished first then.

The Sabre sailed across the finish line at 11:51.26, well ahead of the Detroit yacht Escapade, which holds the Chicago-Mackinac record of 25 hours, 10 minutes and 42 seconds.

Detroit Worker, 40, Admits Beating Wife To Death With Fists

PORT HURON, Mich. — (AP)—David R. March, 40-year-old Detroit factory worker, pleaded guilty in justice court today to the fatal beating of his wife last Saturday night.

After originally maintaining he could not remember the beating, March told Justice of Peace Stuart Phillips at nearby Yale:

"There was no one else around, so I guess I must be guilty. I'm going to plead guilty."

The stocky March was found in his car on a country road near Capac Saturday night, sleeping off a drinking bout. Near the car lay the bruised body of his wife, Martha, 36.

Police said March and his wife had driven to Capac Saturday, and their had encountered his first wife. Officers charged that March had beaten Martha when she attempted to deter him from following the first wife to assault her.

March was to be arraigned this afternoon in St. Clair county circuit court before Circuit Judge Shirley Stewart.

AMMAN, Jordan — (AP)—The body of Lebanon's former Premier Riad El Solh—cut down yesterday by assassins' bullets—was flown home to Beirut today. Authorities said one of his slayers is dead, another lies wounded by his own hand and a third is still sought by police.

El Solh was slain as he was being driven to the Ammann airport to return to Beirut after a three-day state visit to Jordan's King Abdullah. Three men in a car sped past the royal vehicle, opening fire as they drew abreast.

The killers were identified as members of the semi-Fascist Syrian National party, whose leader, Antoun Saadi, was executed in Lebanon in 1949 and whose plans for a "Greater Syria" El Solh opposed.

Deluge Denied By Rainmakers

Firm Seeds Clouds In Dry Western States

DELIVER — (AP)—The west's biggest cloud-seeder says Kansas and Missouri were flooded by mother nature's own rain and the artificial rainmakers had nothing to do with the deluge.

Dr. Irving P. Krick said the seeding of clouds with silver iodide crystals, which is big business with him, couldn't have caused the floods. Krick made the statement in replying to Senator Case (R-SD).

Case said yesterday in Washington, D. C., that operations of "rain-makers" might have had something to do with the floods. Krick, president of the water Resources Development Corp., of Denver, said:

"We've been seeding clouds during storm periods in our operating areas all the way from Canada to Mexico and if we were having any influence on what was happening in Kansas it is only reasonable to look for floods in other states east of where we were seeding. There have been none."

Krick said, his firm is seeding clouds in 15 western states in an effort to increase rainfall on more than 325,000,000 acres.

Moonshiner Sets Up Still On Property Of Revenue Agent

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Advice to moonshiners: When setting up a still on a stranger's property make sure that isn't an employee of the treasury department.

That important little point was overlooked in establishing a sizeable moonshining operation on some property 12 miles from Washington, in adjoining Prince Georges County, Md.

The property is owned by Everette Lunsford, a treasury man. Lunsford checking his land boundary lines late Sunday when he stumbled over the still hidden in a wooded ravine.

He passed the word along to officers of the Internal Revenue Bureau's alcohol tax unit, which wars on moonshining as a form of evasion of liquor taxes.

Today, the head of the alcohol tax unit's Washington office, John Fisher, announced results of a strategically timed raid:

Arrest of Isaac Redding, Kingston, N. C., on an illicit distilling charge; seizure of two 180-gallon stills, 2,500 gallons of mash, and 40 gallons of finished whiskey.

Firemen Rescue 25 Trapped By Smoke In South Haven Hotel

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich. — (AP)—Firemen wearing smoke masks led 25 Nichols hotel guests to safety today as an early morning fire clogged corridors with smoke.

Several of the trapped guests were lowered through second story windows while the heavy fumes blocked other avenues of escape.

Despite several close calls, only one unidentified man was injured. He received a wrenched back when he lowered himself from his second floor room to the ground by a rope ladder.

Fire Chief Norman Waters said the blaze, striking at 4 a. m., apparently began in a refrigerator in the hotel kitchen. Restricted to the kitchen, the blaze caused damage estimated at $8,000 by Mrs. Don Nichols, wife of the owner.

Hammering Pennies And Nickels Now Punishable By Law

WASHINGTON — (AP)—There is a law—to keep people from hammering pennies to the size of a nickel or nickels to the size of a quarter.

These are sizes which happen to be just right to pass off on coin boxes and vending machines. Penny-pounding and nickel-smashing became a crime yesterday.

President Truman signed the bill which includes a penalty of as much as five years in prison and a $2,000 fine for violations.

Up to now, it had been a crime to "fraudulently deface, mutilate, impair, diminish, scale or lighten" gold and silver coins of the United States, but the law had overlooked pennies and nickels.

Government Lifts Ban On Spare Tire

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The government today lifted a three-month-old ban against putting a spare tire on new autos at the factory.

The ban was imposed in April with the aim of saving rubber for use in increasing production of heavy duty tires for trucks, tractors and other farm equipment.

The National Production Authority dropped the prohibition, effective today, on the ground that the one-fifth cut back ordered in current output of new cars does away with the need to restrict them to four tires each.

view," he would personally like to see Spain in the treaty organization.

Bradley added that "you cannot get a Frenchman or an English military man to say what I said."

Classed As Fascists
The British labor government's opposition to any military arrangement with Franco Spain stems from the active opposition to Franco by Prime Minister Clement Attlee and other labor leaders during the Spanish Civil War. To the ruling group in Britain, Franco and his supporters are still fascists.

France shares this view, with the added fear that any move to bring Spain into the Atlantic treaty orbit would influence U. S. strategy toward the possibility of abandoning France, in case of a Red onslaught, and retiring into Spain behind the natural barrier formed by the Pyrennes mountains.

U. S. military men see little logic in excluding Spain from a defense organization which would depend upon the Atlantic and the Mediterranean both for its seaborne lifelines and for the protection of its flanks.

Good Spot For Bases
No U. S. military man argues that Spain could now provide any great fighting power. But the Spanish peninsula does offer locations for both air and sea bases.

Some key senators urged American officials, meanwhile, to ignore British objections and speed negotiations for air and naval bases in Spain.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee said he for one believes it would be "highly desirable" for the U. S. to obtain air and naval bases there.

"Great Britain should not intervene in this matter and should not oppose," the Texas senator declared.

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) one of the most vigorous critics of Truman administration foreign policies, said:

"It would be useless to try to defend western Europe unless we avail ourselves of the resources of Spain and of western Germany."

Rock Man New Head Of Pilots

Clarence N. Sayen Elected By ALPA

CHICAGO — (AP)—The AFL Air Line Pilots association today voted to oust President David L. Behncke, 54, and then approved paying him his current salary of $15,000 a year for life.

Action to dismiss Behncke, founder and president of the union for 25 years, came early today after an all-night meeting of 210 of the union's 228 directors.

The fight for control of the union and the attempt to fire Behncke was to come up for hearing in federal court today.

The directors elected a new president, Clarence N. Sayen, 32, of Chicago. He was an executive vice president of ALPA but recently had been fired by Behncke. Sayen is a native of Rock, Mich., and a graduate of Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette.

A spokesman for the directors said the vote to "recall" Behncke from the office of president was by "an overwhelming majority." He said the directors, voting for membership, cast a vote of 6,000 to 200 for Sayen to take over the president's job at the $15,000 a year salary.

The spokesman said opposition to Behncke has been "simmering for a long time." Behncke has been charged with conducting a "one-man" organization.

Eyes Of Detroit Man Save Sight For Two

DETROIT — (AP)—"I knew I was going to see," said a greying mother of six after surgeons performed and eye operation to improve the sight that has been failing for 20 years.

She was right. Doctors report that Mrs. Lena Campbell will have good vision from her right eye in two months.

The same is true, they say, of the left eye of William Lowe, 64-year-old resident of White Lake, Mich.

Both will owe this to the corneas from the eyes of Lawrence Shannon, 32, a Detroit office worker who died last week of a brain tumor.

With the permission of Shannon's mother, surgeons grafted his corneas onto the eyes of Mrs. Campbell and Lowe.

The operations were performed Tuesday. On Sunday an examination showed that both were successful.

that new orders now extended the period to Aug. 1.

Raise Of 17 Cents An Hour Accepted In Western Union

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Western Union company employees have voted to accept a company offer of a 17-cents-an-hour wage boost. Adolph Brungs, head of the Western Union division of the AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union, told reporters that the count of ballots is not complete, but the vote for accepting the proposal is substantial.

Some 35,000 employees are involved. They had planned to go on strike July 2, but called it off to consider the company's offer.

The company had offered a 13-cent pay boost effective July 1 and a four-cent boost effective after Sept. 1. Both increases are subject to approval of the Wage Stabilization Board.

In addition, 8,000 messengers will get an immediate pay hike of 7½ cents, followed by 2½ cents more on Sept. 1. This, too, is subject to wage board approval.

Messengers now receive 75 cents an hour. Adult employees average $1.27 an hour.

Claims 27 Ducks With Single Shot

DARWIN — (AP)—An aborigine claims 27 wild ducks killed with one shot from a shot gun. The wizard shot was made on a lagoon near Daly Waters, Northern Territory.

New Six-Wheel Army Workhorse Will Be Built At GM Plant

PONTIAC, Mich. — (AP)—The GMC Truck & Coach division, World War II's largest military truck manufacturer, has a new "Army workhorse" in prospect.

The new vehicle, a 6 x 6 tactical vehicle, (six wheels, all six power-driven) will be equipped with hydraulic transmission with eight speeds forward and two in reverse. Powered with a new six cylinder engine, developing 145 horsepower, it can haul or tow a five ton load at 58 miles an hour. It is equipped also for traveling submerged in water on deep-fording operations.

GMC built half a million 6 x 6 vehicles in World War II. Unlike those, the new unit is bigger, faster, lower, and easier to drive and maintain.

An innovation is an automatic front wheel drive engagement. The front axle is free rolling in high-way service when power is delivered only to the two rear axles.

When the rear wheels lose traction on rough terrain, power automatically is applied to the front wheels.

The vehicle weighs 12,200 pounds empty, compared with 10,800 for its World War II predecessor.
